

*Embassy of the United States of America
Algiers, Algeria*

November 27, 2012

Press Release

The Consular Section at the U.S. Embassy is currently experiencing a temporary backlog in visa appointments. While the Embassy is doing everything it can to address this issue, travelers are encouraged to help by planning ahead. In particular, the Embassy encourages all summer travelers to request a visa appointment early – at least two months in advance.

All appointments for visa interviews are completely free of charge. Travelers to the United States may find information regarding visa appointments on this website: <http://algiers.usembassy.gov/appointments.html>.

The Embassy apologizes for the current backlog in visa appointments and assures the Algerian people that we remain committed to promoting exchange between our two countries.
